

The purely relative poverty rate in the developing world has overtaken that for the rich world

